Broomfield Rival Now Lives in East

James G. Kellis, 1960 Democratic nominee for Congress in Oakland County's 18th District, now lives in Connecticut, a friend said Friday night in Pontiac.

Kellis, a retired Air Force colonel and a veteran of both the OSS and CIA is now an analyst with United Aircraft in Fairfield, Conn. The move is permanent, Kellis' friend said.

Kellis formerly lived at 1817 Cass, Berkley. He was defeated by Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield in the 1960 election.
